THE MANAGER

Harry Craft

Harry Craft, whose walk and speech betray his Mississippi background, is in his second full season as manager of the Kansas Athletics. He succeeded Lou Boudreau the latter part of the 1957 season. In the spring of 1958 he set a goal for the A's of 70 victories and this goal was exceeded. Now Manager Craft has another and it involves continued improvement in the number of games won and lost. The skipper, sometimes called the Creeper because of the gum-shoe walk he employs, would rather do this than predict in what position the team might finish.

Craft at one time was both a football and baseball star at Mississippi College and some of his gridiron feats still are remembered around Jackson. He was born in Ellisville, Miss., and began his professional baseball career in the Cincinnati organization when Larry MacPhail was president and Frank Lane his assistant. He becme one of the stars for the Reds as an outfielder.

Craft, who served as a coach for the Kansas City Blues under the late Bill Meyer, a man whom he admired and respected, began his managerial career with the Independence, Kan., club and one of his proteges was Mickey Mantle. When Craft became the pilot of the Joplin, Mo., club the next year Mantle followed him and Mickey gives Craft credit for helping him in these years.

Craft's success as a manager is attributed in part to his forebearance, his extreme tact and understanding, and yet, at the same time, to his firmness when that quality is required. Craft asks nothing more than that a player give his best. He is slow to criticize, slow to anger but firmly convinced there is only one way to play baseball and that is to give to it all a player has. Spirit, Craft insists, is the hub of every winning team.

COACHES

BOB SWIFT

Coach of the catchers and the coach at third base where the decisions must be made quickly. Bob Swift, once a Ban Johnson League catcher in Salina, Kan., has enjoyed a commendable career both as a major league backstop and coach. He began his major league career in 1940 with the St. Louis Browns, went from the Browns to the Philadelphia Athletics and from the A's to the Detroit Tigers. And from the Tigers to the Kansas City Athletics in 1957.

DON HEFFNER

Starting his second year as the infield coach as well as the first base coach during games, Don Heffner won't soon forget the 1958 season. He was on hand for the trial camp held early in February at Haines City, then joined the A's at West Palm Beach. After the regular season he went with the most promising youngsters to the winter instruction league in Florida. Heffner's work with the infielders has been invaluable. He was a personal choice of Manager Craft, who realized his value in the minor leagues.

JOHNNY SAIN

Starting his first year as coach of the pitchers. A one-time major league star with the Boston Braves. Later with the Yankees and then closing out his active career in 1955 with the Athletics. Sain, owner of a motor car agency in Walnut Ridge, Ark., was persuaded to take over this coaching job last fall and spent some time with the pitchers in the winter instruction league. There is great reason to believe that under Sain there will be a real improvement among the hurlers on the staff.

1959 KANSAS CITY ATHLETICS

Michael Baxes — Number 11

Bats and throws right. Age 28. Height 5 ft., 10 in. Weight 175. Home: Daly City, Calif.

Mike Baxes was purchased by Kansas City from the San Francisco club at the close of the 1955 season. He played some for the A's in 1956 and in 1958 was the regular second baseman when the season started. The year before (1957) Baxes had been a workhorse at shortstop for Buffalo and probably the most valuable player on the club. Shifted to second, he started the 1958 season impressively but then suffered an injury which kept him out of the lineup for a long spell. That injury was a blow to Mike who felt that at last his aspirations had been won. He fully recovered near the end of the season but by then Hec Lopez had been established at second and Mike had to be content with a utility role.

John Bella — Number 49

Throws left, bats right. Age 28. Height 5 ft., 11 in. Weight 190. Home: Byram, Conn.

Better known as Zeke Bella, this player became the property of the Athletics at the close of the 1958 season as the last player to be included by the Yankees in an earlier deal. Bella is rated one of the top hustlers, a consistently good hitter as his .339 average for the Denver club last year would testify. He was out of action part of the season with injuries, nothing uncommon for Zeke, who plays so hard he invites injuries. Although classed as an outfielder he is capable of playing first base and will be available for this position during the season.

George Stuart Brunet, Jr. — Number 27

Throws left, bats right. Age 23. Height 6 ft., 1 in. Weight 195. Home: Seminole, Okla.

Brunet's banner year thus far was with Little Rock in 1957 when his pitching in the first half of that season stood the Southern League on its head. He had 235 strikeouts and an ERA of 3.42, which would have been even more impressive but for the fact George had pitched winter ball and by July was sagging physically. This portsider has the exceptional fast ball, so good in fact that not much needs to be added to his repertoire to give him everything a major league winner requires. High hopes are entertained for this youngster who has been in professional baseball since 1953.

Robert H. Cerv — Number 33

Throws and bats right. Age 32. Height 6 ft. Weight 204. Home: Kansas City.

The big gun of the Athletics in 1958 with his 104 RBI's and .305 batting mark. All this was accomplished despite numerous injuries, all of which this doughty former University of Nebraska basketball and baseball star survived. Cerv made his pro ball debut with the Kansas City Blues of the American Association in 1950 and speedily became one of the outstanding long distance hitters. Some of his homers still are considered in the realm of the fantastic. Cerv battled out the home run honors with Jackie Jensen and Mickey Mantle last year, fading in the closing weeks after running into an unusual number of physical mishaps. Near the top in the voting for the American League's most valuable player and enjoying his finest season in the major leagues, Bob appeared in two world series with the Yankees and last year was the American League's starting left fielder in the all-star game in Baltimore. A night in his honor was held in Kansas City as a reward for his unprecedented efforts against discouraging odds.

Harry Chiti — Number 8

Throws and bats right. Age 26. Height 6 ft., 2½ in. Weight 2810. Home: Independence, Mo.

Harry Chiti represents the wisest draft choice the Kansas City Athletics made in their first four years. He was taken off the Denver roster at the 1957 baseball meetings. At one time a prized prospect for the Chicago Cubs, Chiti was handicapped by excess avoirdupois but last year he set about the task of reducing his weight. Despite an injured finger on his glove hand he did the bulk of the catching for the club the last half of the season and was rated high for the manner in which he handled the pitchers.

Walter Coleman — Number 14

Throws and bats left. Age 27. Height 6 ft., 1 in. Weight 180. Home: Troy, N. Y.

Ever since Walt (Rip) Coleman came into professional baseball by way of the Binghamton club he has been credited with having a major league arm. In his case it has been an example of a hurler seeking a pitching pattern, the series of pitches best fitted to him. He has had several major league trials, two with the Yankees before he was traded to the Athletics in a wholesale swap which took place in the winter after the 1956 season. Baseball men have felt that what Coleman has needed more than anything else has been confidence in himself and since he has such outstanding physical assets there remains the hope he will at last come into his own.

Walter A. Craddock — Number 30

Throws left, bats right. Age 27. Height 6 ft. Weight 176. Home: Mt. Hope, W. Va.

Walter A. Craddock is one of the very few players remaining whom the Kansas City Athletics inherited when the franchise was purchased in November of 1954 by Arnold Johnson and his associates. Craddock had spent the '54 season with Savannah where his 12-8 record was impressive enough to entitle him to a shot with the parent club. However, he injured his arm in winter ball and it was only in 1957, when he hung up an 18-8 mark for Buffalo and, on the strength of that was chosen the best prospect in the International league, that the arm finally came around. Craddock has exceptionally good speed and has needed only better control and a pitching plan to make him an asset for the Athletics.

Robert E. Davis — Number 24

Bats and throws right. Age 26. Height 6 ft. Weight 165. Home: Great Neck, N. Y.

This former Yale University star was called up by the Athletics from their Little Rock club the latter part of the 1958 season and while he was able to score no victories in his eight appearances he nevertheless made a favorable impression. Hurling for Little Rock this youngster had earned the reputation for being one of the best prospects in the Southern League. With an exceptionally good curve, control and poise, young Davis has come a long way since his pro ball debut with the Burlington club in 1955. He is one of the first of the youngsters signed by the Kansas City Athletics considered to have encouraging major league possibilities.

Throws and bats left. Age 25. Height 6 ft., 1 in. Weight 185. Home: Long Beach, Calif.

An unusually fine competitor. Buddy was an instrument baby and his right hand was injured at birth. He became a lefthander and now has one of the fanciest assortments of knuckle balls in the business. The A's got him from the Cleveland club and he pitched the latter part of the 1958 season for Kansas City. Daley has a strong following who believe he can become a tremendous asset to the pitching staff as a starter or in relief.

Joseph P. DeMaestri — Number 2

Throws and bats right. Age 30. Height 6 ft. Weight 174. Home: San Anselmo, Calif.

The team's regular shortstop ever since the transfer of the franchise to Kansas City and considered one of the smoothest and most dependable in the league. DeMaestri can be found at or near the top in the fielding averages since his errors are rare. He is blessed with not only a strong but an accurate arm. His hitting is in streaks and Joe has his moments when he is a scourge to all pitching. He is the club's player representative and has been one of its most popular players.

Alex T. George — Number 47

Throws right, bats both right and left. Age 20. Height 5 ft., 11 in. Weight 175. Home: Kansas City.

The first Kansas City-born youngster to be signed to an A's contract. A former high school and Ban Johnson league star, George joined the A's near the end of the 1955 season and since then has had three seasons in the farm organization. He teamed with Lou Klimchock to form the double play combination for Pocatello last year in the Pioneer League. Off to a slow start he pulled up his batting mark to .282 at the finish with 90 RBI's. Now highly regarded by the organization as one of its top shortstop prospects.

Ned F. Garver — Number 31

Throws and bats right. Age 33. Height 5 ft., 10½ in. Weight 180. Home: Ney, O.

One of the truly great veterans of the American league with behind him many seasons with more victories than defeats with his high total of 20 being reached for the St. Louis Browns in 1951. Garver came to the Athletics in a winter trade with Detroit and began the 1957 season for Kansas City after having experienced a frustrating 1956 year at Detroit. He was out of action most of the season, spending part of that time on his farm. The 1957 season began as something of an experiment for one of the finest craftsmen in baseball. But gradually the arm responded and near the end of that season Garver felt that it had regained a great deal of its one-time strength. Ned is now in his 15th season in pro ball, his 11th in the major leagues and batters have come to know him as a hurler who deeply resents throwing a pitch good enough to hit. His success stems in part from his remarkable control and from the wide assortment of curves which he throws with different speeds. And then, when least expected, the fast ball.

Milt Graff — Number 6

Throws right, bats left. Age 28. Height 5 ft., 8 in. Weight 165. Home: Williamsport, Pa.

Obtained by trade from the Yankee organization during the 1957 season Graff has proved his capabilities in the field and needs only to improve his hitting to stick in the majors. This little chap is a great hustler, covers considerable ground and is a genuine asset to the defense. Last year, while playing on option for Buffalo, he began pulling the ball and now believes that he can add some help to the attack. He is highly regarded because of his spirit and hustle.

Robert A. Grim — Number 34

Throws and bats right. Age 29. Height 6 ft., 1 in. Weight 185. Home: Brooklyn.

Bob Grim first won major league recognition in 1954 when, in his first season, he won 20 games while losing six. He was successful again in 1957 with a 12-8 record and then in June of 1958 was included in a package deal between the A's and Yankees. With Kansas City, Grim was slow in making a readjustment but near the end of the season he had become one of the most effective hurlers on the staff. Grim is a cool performer who found it a strain on his arm to do both the starting and relief jobs for New York. With the A's he was given a regular starting assignment and after a while he began to respond. At the close of the 1958 season Bob felt that he had fully come back and hoped that 1959 would find him as effective as he had been in 1954. He has pitched in five world series games with no victories and hurled 1/3 of an inning in the 1957 major league all-star game.

Thomas A. Gorman — Number 37

Throws and bats right. Age 32. Height 6 ft., 1 in. Weight 195. Home: Kansas City.

Gorman, since being purchased from the Yankees in the spring of 1955, has been one of the most effective of the relief pitchers and equally effective when used in a starting role. A sidearmer, he is particularly effective against righthand hitters. Less so for many years against the lefthanders, he has developed pitches to use against their breed. Last year Gorman was handicapped for a time with a sore arm but there never has been anytime when this bespectacled hurler has not been willing to make every effort to help the cause. One of the finest in team spirit. In 1955 his relief services were invaluable and he was credited that season with having a great deal to do with the fact the A's finished a surprising sixth. He appeared in 57 games, winning seven and saving a great many more for brother hurlers.

Raymond Ernest Herbert — Number 38

Throws and bats right. Age 29. Height 5 ft., 11 in. Weight 185. Home: Kansas City.

Ray Herbert became the workhorse of the Kansas City pitching staff in 1957 after having found himself the year before while hurling on option for the Buffalo club. From June on in 1957 he was considered the best pitcher on the Buffalo staff. Herbert was one of the early purchases for the Kansas City club, being bought from Detroit in June of 1955. He was with the A's the remainder of that year and then pitched first for Columbus and then Buffalo. Signed as a high school prodigy by the Tigers he had blazing speed when he broke in with the Toledo club. Now he has added a considerable repertoire to his fast ball and his eight victories for the Athletics last year hardly tells the story since he appeared as the middle man in a great many relief assignments. Herbert now is considered at the peak of his career.

Kent Hadley — Number 18

Throws and bats left. Age 24. Height 6 ft., 3 in. Weight 190. Home: Pocatello, Id.

Young Hadley came to the Athletics in a trade with Detroit between the 1957 and '58 seasons. He spent the 1958 spring with the A's and then was shipped to Little Rock, with which club he compiled a sturdy long-distance hitting record. He has 34 homers and 91 runs batted in. Young Hadley was rated one of the top players in the Southern League and given a chance to become the regular first sacker for the Athletics.

Dorrell N. Herzog — Number 22

Throws and bats left. Age 27. Height 5 ft., 11 in. Weight 160 . Home: Independence, Mo.

Purchased outright from the Washington club during the 1958 season, Herzog served in several capacities as utility for the A's. He can play center or either of the other outfield spots and is more than adequate at first base. This year Whitey conceived the idea of making himself competent to take a turn behind the bat despite the fact that lefthanded catchers have been rare in baseball. Yet this fellow possesses an admirable team spirit and would be willing to try anything if he thought he could help his club's cause.

Frank House — Number 12

Throws right, bats left. Age 29. Height 6 ft., 2 in. Weight 190. Home: Bessemer, Ala.

Frank House became the property of the Athletics on November 20, 1957, when he was included along with Duke Maas, John Tsitouris, Jim Small, Bill Tuttle, Jim McManus and Kent Hadley for Charlie Thompson, Billy Martin, Mickey McDermott, Tom Morgan, Lou Skizas and Gus Zernial—this swap with Detroit being one of the larger among major league clubs. House had been a bonus baby for the Tigers, joining them in 1950 after a year at Flint. With the A's in 1958 Frank shared the catching duties with Harry Chiti after Hal Smith had been moved to third base. He is considred one of the better handler of pitchers in the American League and a home run threat. He can look back on several occasions last year when his long blow was the determing factor in a victory for the A's.

Dave Hill — Number 43

Throws left and bats right. Age 22. Height 6 ft., 2 in. Weight 170. Home: Milwaukee.

Dave Hill was one of the "finds" for the A's in 1957 and last year was his first season in pro ball. This youngster got some rave notices from scouts who followed him during his semi-pro ball career around Milwaukee and one of the more persistent finally got Dave hitched to a contract. He has the benefit of good size and strength and a natural fast ball which is expected to carry him far in his chosen profession.

Throws and bats right. Age 26. Height 6 ft., 4 in. Weight 200. Home: West Palm Beach, Fla.

When the Athletics were in spring training at West Palm Beach in 1954 one of the more prized youngsters in their farm organization was in military service. Young Johnson, blessed with a great many physical attributes, had started his career with a 14-6 record at Savannah and because of that his release from the military was awaited with some anticipation. Last year Ken won 11 against 17 for Buffalo and was brought up by the A's to finish the season. Among all of the pitchers in the farm system he was considered the most nearly ready to do major league relief pitching because of his surprisingly good control and his better than average fast ball.

One of the outstanding young prospects in the Athletics' organization and regarded as a fairly sure bet to become a major league fixture. The all-star of the Pioneer League last year while playing second base for Pocatello, Id., and a league leader in batting (.389) and runs-batted-in (112). In fact Klimchock was by odds the best performer in this legaue and he was just as sparkling in the winter instruction league in Florida. Klimchock came up to the Athletics the latter part of last season and appeared in two games but the officials were more interested in having Coach Don Heffner work with the youngster around second base. Klimchock has all the tools—good speed, good arm and good power. The conclusion on him is that he has a chance to go all the way.

Hector Lopez — Number 10

Throws and bats right. Age 26. Height 5 ft., 11 in. Weight 174. Home: Cristobal, Panama.

A former track star while in high school in the Canal Zone, this Panamanian has proved to be one of the most consistent hitters of the regulars among the Athletics. He has been used at third and second, being shifted to the latter base during an emergency in the forepart of last season. Lopez has the happy knack of coming through with the big hit when it is most urgently needed. Possibly of all the players he is the most difficult to fool at the plate. Lopez was a member of the organization when it was purchased in the fall of 1954 and became a regular during the 1955 season after being recalled from the Columbus club.

Throws right, bats left. Age 24. Height 6 ft. Weight 197. Home: Raytown, Mo.

Accepted by almost all American League critics as one of the circuit's finest prospects. The Athletics acquired him in a big trade with Cleveland in June of 1958. He wound up with 19 home runs for the A's after having clouted nine for Cleveland. He has a total of 81 RBI's. Maris has all the qualifications — speed, arm, great power, strong determination. How far he can go may be a question but so far as this athlete is concerned the sky may be the limit. The player on the Kansas City roster most sought by other clubs.

Robert G. Martyn — Number 32

Bob Martyn gave a good account of himself as a spare outfielder for the Athletics last year. Early in the season he proved, for a spell, one of the club's most dangerous hitters. This resulted, Bob believed, from a greater confidence in himself. Once he developed this attitude his value increased. Bob, a teacher during the winter, has a fine attitude and the ability to blossom into an outstanding player in the major leagues.

Jim McManus came to the A's along with Hadley in the 1957-58 trade with Detroit. At the time he was in military service. Upon being released he was optioned first to the Denver and then the Seattle club, playing some 79 games in all. Like Hadley, McManus is regarded as a good prospect and is expected to make a far better showing this year now that he has had the opportunity to adjust himself after his military hitch.

Throws and bats right. Age 22. Height 6 ft. Weight 195. Home: Robstown, Texas.

Reed was a member of the 1957 University of Texas championship nine along with Harry Taylor but did not begin his professional career until 1958 when he hurled for both Little Rock and Albany. He pitched for the championship Athletics in the winter instruction league in Florida at the close of the 1958 season and was selected as one of the most promising pitchers of that 4-club circuit. Reed is one of the brightest of the young pitching hopes in the Kansas City organization with virtually all of the essentials to get him to the major leagues and keep him there. He has a good fast ball and curve and, along with these, unusually fine control. Add a good competitive spirit and it is no wonder this husky youngster has been labeled by the organization officials as one who can hardly miss. He is one of the youngsters most likely to see some major league pitching this year.

In 1956 Simpson was the big gun for the A's with his 105 RBI's. He had been purchased in June of 1955 from Cleveland and had quickly won a place in the hearts of the fans with his tremendous long-distance hitting. He was traded in June of 1957 to the Yankees and then regained by the Athletics in June of 1958 in another trade. Simpson, originally an outfielder, likes first base and does himself justice there. When he is in hitting stride he is one of the most dangerous hitters in the league. He also has endeared himself by his remarkable team spirit.

Harold W. Smith — Number 9

Throws and bats right. Age 28. Height 6 ft. Weight 195. Home: Baltimore.

Probably the greatest and most pleasant surprise of the 1958 season so far as the Athletics were concerned. Having been a catcher through almost all of his career Hal was pressed into service first at first base and then at third and at the latter spot he gave such an outstanding accounting of himself it appeared the club's search for a third sacker was over. The longer Hal remained at third the more adept he became. A tremendously strong and accurate arm and a willingness to get in front of the hard smashes and knock them down delighted the fans and amazed the manager. Smith in 1957 had led the club in hitting with a .303 mark and while his 1958 figure was 30 points below this he still was one of the more dangerous clutch hitters. Smith was obtained from Baltimore along with Outfielder Jim Pisoni for Joe Ginsberg and Al Pilarcik during the 1956 season and served as a catcher until he took over at third base.

Jimmy Small was one of the athletics the Kansas City club particularly wanted when it discussed its big 1957 trade with Detroit. This youngster had played some outfield for the Tigers in 1955, '56 and '57 and had indicated good ability. Last year he functioned first for Buffalo and then Little Rock and with the latter club he began to find himself near the close of the season. With good speed and power it has been felt that Small needed only to develop better outfield finesse to make him ready for major league competition.

Taylor is one of two stars of the 1957 University of Texas team signed by Kansas City, the other being Howard Reed. Taylor made a brief appearance for the Athletics in '57 and then was assigned to the Little Rock club. He displayed unusual poise and an exceptional curve ball and was immediately marked as a hurler with definite major league potential. In 1958 he was the victim of a sore arm and unable to do himself justice. A rest was required and it was hoped this would enable this former member of a national championship college team to make some important strides up the professional baseball ladder.

His real name is Bill, not William. Regarded as one of the good defensive centerfielders in the American League and a fixture at that spot for Detroit until he figured in the trade between the Tigers and Athletics. Tuttle started the 1958 season in right field but returned to center after Woody Held had been traded to Cleveland. The first to sign his contract this year, Tuttle is one of the most highly prized of the A's regulars. He had the happy faculty last year of providing the important hit when a batting rally was in its opening stage. Good power to center and left-center, good speed, good baserunner and blessed with a strong, accurate arm.

Ralph W. Terry — Number 26

Throws and bats right. Age 22. Height 6 ft., 2 in. Weight 182. Home: Kansas City.

This raw-boned youngster who hails from Chelsea, Okla., became a member of the Athletics as the result of a trade between the A's and Yankees in June of 1957. With the Yankees that season he had a 1-1 mark and the one victory was a shutout. With the Athletics he turned in several brilliant performances and his eleven victories in 1958 included triumphs over top clubs. Terry has the benefit of a sneaky fast ball and the feeling is that when he has fully acquired the foils to go with this pitch he has a real chance to become one of the outstanding pitchers in the major leagues. In 1956 he had a 13-4 record at Denver and now, after five years of pro ball, it is thought that he is on the verge of finding himself. A good competitor who does his best work against the stronger opposition.

Wayne Terwilliger — Number 1

Throws and bats right. Age 33. Height 5 ft., 11 in. Weight 175. Home: Charlotte, Mich.

The 1958 draft choice by the Athletics, Terwillinger was purchased from the Charleston roster after the A's had been assured here was the top second baseman performing in the minor leagues. Wayne has had major league shots with several major league clubs after having been signed by the Chicago Cubs in 1948. Considered an excellent double play man. With Charleston last year he was on base 245 times in 146 games, getting 144 hits and 101 walks. Also regarded as one of the best of the hustlers and ideal as a team player.

Richard C. Tomanek — Number 15

Throws and bats left. Age 27. Height 6 ft., 1 in. Wieght 175. Home: Avon Lake, O.

Dick Tomanek was one of the players obtained by the Athletics in a trade which sent Vic Power and Woody Held to Cleveland during the 1957 season and he quickly became a great favorite with Kansas City fans. Used primarily in a relief role he turned in numerous noteworthy performances, one of which was regarded as one of the most effective of the year when, during a game in Cleveland, he went to the mound against his former mates in the ninth inning with the bases filled, none out, and the score tied and struck out the side. Tomanek owns an especially good fast ball and became a key factor for the A's with this as he appeared in 36 games with a 3.61 earned run average. Dick's ambition has been to work into a starting role although he is not averse to making the entrance from the bull pen.

Jack E. Urban — Number 21

Throws and bats right. Age 30. Height 5 ft., 8 in. Weight 155. Home: Omaha, Neb.

Urban was acquired by the Athletics from the New York Yankees in the spring of 1957 as the "player to be named later" part of a winter deal. By the time he could put on an A's uniform the spring training season had ended and so Jack was returned to the Denver club on option and then later recalled where, for the remainder of the '57 season, he was one of the most effective members of the staff with a 7-4 record and an ERA of 3.35. In 1958 he was injured in a collision at first base and this was considered to have affected his work. He had been catalogued by Manager Harry Craft as one of his three certain starters along with Ned Garver and Ralph Terry but he was unable to get the maximum on his fast ball. A gritty, hard-nosed competitor with great courage and excellent team spirit. In top shape he could be one of the top winners.

Preston M. Ward — Number 7

Throws right, bats left. Age 31. Height 6 ft., 4 in. Weight 190. Home: Encino, Calif.

Listed as an infielder, Preston Ward also can play the outfield. He is familiar with both first and third base and so is extremely valuable. He was acquired from Cleveland during the 1958 season after having compiled a .338 batting mark for the Indians. One of the veterans of the club, Ward spent some time in the Dodgers organization, later with the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh before venturing into the American League. He is a good long ball hitter, getting 22 homers for San Diego in 1957 before being recalled by Cleveland. Just where Preston will perform this year is a fair question but, being the team player that he always has been, he isn't too concerned himself. Wherever he can do the most good for the club.

Richard H. Williams — Number 35

Throws and bats right. Age 29. Height 6 ft. Weight 190. Home: Fort Worth.

Dick Williams was obtained by the Athletics during the 1958 world series in a trade which sent Chico Carrasquel to Baltimore. Before joining the Orioles he had performed for Cleveland. Actually Williams is an infielder-outfielder. He has been used at first and third base. Until he suffered an arm injury he was regarded as one of the brightest hopes in the then Brooklyn organization and in 1953 appeared in three world series games for the Dodgers. Always a fine competitor and a good clutch hitter Williams is expected to add considerable to the bench strength of the Kansas City club.
